This three-credit course will cover current trends and topics in African American and African Studies. AAAS 100 explores the Black experience from several perspectives: history, politics, economics, art, sociology, psychology, religion, and culture. In addition, this course allows for students with both nascent and developed interest in Black studies to delve deeper into their intellectual passions.

TO ENROLL, VISIT: student.msu.edu